

APPRAISAL ROADSHOW

104 Middleton Way, Greer, SC 29650

From 291 take Wade Hampton Blvd/Hwy 29 Towards Greer, SC. turn Right onto W. Poinsett St. Take the 2nd left onto Middleton Way - WHAM is on the right.

Thursday, July 31st

Times: 10 - 12 pm, 2 - 4 pm & 5 - 8 pm

$15 Per Item

25% of all proceeds go to American Red Cross

3 item limit per person

WHAM will be holding a "1 Day" Appraisal Fair headed by our Certified Master Appraiser Llewellyn Dykes - bring your Art, Antiques, Stamps, Coins, Ephemera, Glassware, Sterling Silver, Jewelry & Collectibles! Curious about the items from Grandmas attic? Bring them to WHAM & find out if you have a treasure!!

First come, First serve! Preregistered parties will have first pick of available time slots.

Call WHAM Office (864) 801-9468 to preregister now!

APPRAISAL ROADSHOW

ABOUT OUR MASTER APPRAISER

Llewellyn (Kelly) Dykes

Mr. Dykes did it once again. He documented and then scheduled the next Russian masterpiece for sale. A large oil on canvas, previously incorrectly attributed to Michael Larionov and valued at $50,000.00, was a vibrant still life titled "Watermelons", actually painted by Natalie Gontcharova, and it was delivered by special transit to Christie's in London.

This work, targeted at the explosive Russian art market and specifically aimed at the biggest Russian sale of the year in November, underwent extensive examination and authentication by independent experts brought in by Christies, and their research confirmed Mr. Dykes' proper attribution. Later that year, Mr. Dykes' identification of the artist was resolutely confirmed by a top expert in the field, Anna Gregorieva from Moscow State University. The sale took place on November 26, 2008 in London, with Mr. Dykes and his clients in attendance.

Despite the global economic crisis exploding at the time, the still life sold for 1.5 million British pounds or $2,250,000.00

Could you possibly have a treasure such as this???? Kelly will know! Bring your items in for a fun & informative time with our charming master mind!

Call our office 864-801-9468 to pre-register - we accept payment by credit card, cash or check.